ABSTRACT

A method for preventing loss of drilling fluid into fractures in the rock formation being drilled includes using coconut coir as a lost circulation material. Additionally, an effective mixture for reducing drilling fluid loss includes drilling fluid and coconut coir. Other lost circulation materials can also be added.

Randall B. Bateman 10 W. 100 South, Suite 425 P.O. Box 1319 Salt Lake City, UT 84110 (801) 539-1900